We cordially invite you to celebrate with us the launch of two newly published books from the Faculty of Language, Literature and Humanities. Both works place a special focus on the methods and theories of queer and gender studies and offer new perspectives on feminist and queer topics in literary criticism.

Janin Afken's *Lesbische* Eigenzeiten. Temporalität in der feministischen* Literatur der DDR und BRD, 1971–1983* (Transcript Verlag, 2024)

Reading Literature and Theory at the Intersections of Queer and Class: Class Notes and Queer-ies, edited by Maria Alexopoulos, Tomasz Basiuk, Susanne Hochreiter, and Tijana Ristic Kern; further contributors: Eveline Kilian, Karolina Krasuska, Anna Kurowicka, Ludmiła Janion, Julia Lingl, Naomi Lobnig, Krystyna Mazur, Tamara Radak and Anna Vida (Routledge, 2025)

The books will be presented by Prof. Dr. Elahe Haschemi Yekani and Felix Schmidt (both HU Berlin), as well as the authors. The event will be held in German and English and will take place in hybrid format.

The panel will be followed by a small informal reception.
