

Homosexualities: Disability / Queer Arts and Culture

10 July 2015 | 19.30 | Schwules Museum*, Lützowstrasse 73, 10785 Berlin

© behindert und verrückt feiern pride parade

Kenny Fries

(US writer; Body Remember; The History of My Shoes and the Evolution of Darwin's Theory) &

Dr. Katerina Kolarova

(Gender Studies, Charles University Prague) will talk about issues of disability and homosexuality from a cultural and disability studies perspective.

Moderator: Aly Patsavas (University of Illinois at Chicago).

This English-language event will be held on the eve of this year's Mad & Disability Pride Parade (see <http://www.pride-parade.de/>), and is also part of the program of the exhibition „Homosexualität_en“ presented by the Deutsche Historische Museum and the Schwules Museum* Berlin from 26 June to 1 December 2015.

The Schwules Museum* is barrier-free. If additional access support is needed contact Prof. Dr. Swantje Köbsell (Disability Studies, Alice Salomon, Hochschule Berlin) and Prof. Dr. Lisa Pfahl (Disability Studies, Humboldt University of Berlin). pfahl@hu-berlin.de